

German Course A1: Beginner

If you're new to the German language, this is an exciting starting point for your language learning journey. German A1 is the beginner's level of German language proficiency according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR), and it provides you with the foundation for building your German language skills. Let's get ready to embark on an exciting linguistic adventure as we dive into the basics of German A1!